PRE-ASSEMBLED FRAME

All Isabella awnings have a pre-assembled frame, with a steel spring in the Zinox frame and an elastic connector in the CarbonX frame. This makes it easier to assemble and saves you time when putting up the awning.

” Isabella – Danish quality made for you

Isabella has been gathering experience in the manufacture of awnings since 1957, and has always been one step ahead when it comes to developing new concepts. Everything you need, whether it's for permanent pitching or touring, there's an Isabella for you – whatever the season. The famous Isabella quality products – tried and tested over more than 55 years – offer plenty of variation, with focus on matching accessories. A complete range in which know-how, a combination of innovative Danish design and attention to detail complete your camping life.

Isabella creates the optimal environment for enjoying life, exploring and expanding the experience of camping at its very best. Isabella has awnings to match every requirement. For those who want to be out and about, exploring the world, and therefore prioritise mobility. For families with children who are older but still constantly on the go. And for seasoned campers, who demand comfort, spaciousness and exclusivity. Isabella means manageability, joy and great experiences, generation after generation.

Recognise an original Isabella awning from its strong Danish quality – and the porthole in the door.

Isabella takes an all-carrot-and-no-stick approach!

Isacryl - Isabella's famous acrylic product which due to its outstanding characteristics has been used for our awnings for decades. Characteristics – or should we say “carrot-eristics”? – which are paramount if campers are to feel confident with their awning and comfortable inside it. With a density of 295/m<sup>2</sup>, Isacryl is extremely durable. However, despite the density of its weave, this material is precisely why Isabella describes its Isacryl awnings as “living”.

” And what does that have to do with carrots?

“When you break a carrot in two, the colour is the same all the way through; it's the same with the fibres in Isacryl, which are solid-dyed – or dope-dyed to use the more technical term. Each fibre is dyed in this way before they are spun into thread and go through the entire weaving process. The material is then treated with a surface coating that protects against mould, fungus, and the like.

The “living” awning

Isabella's Isacryl awnings can both “think” for themselves and “breathe”...! “Thinking” in the sense that Isacryl belongs to the category of intelligent textiles. In short, Isacryl regenerates itself when you wash the surface – and that goes for its strength, impregnation and colour. (But recommend reproofing with Aqua Tex nevertheless.) The best and most important property of Isacryl is that it is a breathable material. Not least for the indoor climate of the awning. The effect of heat and cold from the outside and moisture from the ground make great demands on the awning.

If the fabric is too thick, the moisture from the ground and the heat you give off cannot escape and this will most likely lead to condensation and dampness inside the awning.

Isacryl “breathes” with you, making your stay in the awning so much more comfortable – wherever you are, whatever the time of year!”

” Exceptional materials

Isabella uses only the best materials, made by the world's leading suppliers.

Isacryl is a spinneret-dyed (i.e. the fibres are dyed), textured-weave, durable acrylic material. Isacryl has the highest achievable fade-resistance thanks to the pigmentation method. The density of the weave plus the impregnation all the way through prevent water ingress. Nevertheless, Isacryl is a breathable material, which facilitates the best possible indoor climate in the awning.

Isacryl Deluxe is made of extra durable threads, making it extra strong and wear-resistant. Isacryl Deluxe has a high water column which prevents water ingress. Especially suitable for use in off-peak seasons.

Isacryl Light is an extra lightweight acrylic material, making it especially suitable for touring.

IsaTex is a durable, coated polyester material with an attractive surface texture. This material has been developed for and by Isabella in collaboration with one of Europe's leading textile manufacturers. The benefits of IsaTex include its durability and it is easy to keep clean, as the material can simply be wiped.

PVC/Polyester is intensely resilient and water resistant material

IsaLite is a coated polyester material, which is durable, lightweight and easy to keep clean.

The window foil is the best available on the market. In some of the models, the window foil is also tinted to tone down the sun's rays, and in awnings for use in winter, a foil is used which can withstand sub-zero temperatures.

All Isabella awning roofs are made of strong, acrylate-coated polyester, with an added top coat to help prevent the build-up of dirt. The roof fabric is impregnated in 3 layers (with the exception of Capri, which, in order to make it lighter and more touring-friendly, has 2 layers). The roof fabric is stitched with double-folded seams to guarantee it will withstand even heavy rainfall.

The inside is patterned to create a pleasant indoor environment, and this also helps make any dirt on the outside less noticeable.

All Isabella awnings are supplied with curtains, and the unique thing about the Prisma awning is that you have two different curtain designs to choose from. The curtains are carefully designed to match the awning colours for a harmonious look. The specially developed curtain system ensures that it is easy to put up and take down again. All Isabella curtain materials are given a finishing treatment to withstand environmental impacts, such as mould, rot, fungi or mildew, usually caused by differences in temperature. This special finishing treatment can be restored after washing by ironing the curtain.

” The awning for the whole family – for 30 years

Thirty years ago – in 1985 – the first Penta awning saw the light of day. And we’re celebrating that with the new Penta Thirty. Penta Thirty has everything you require from a permanent pitch awning – a depth of 3.5 m without the nuisance of a centre pole, and designed so that every inch of space is used. The material used is Isacryl, a strong acrylic which allows the awning to breathe. Mosquito net windows in both sides, and the numerous opening options, make for an optimal indoor climate. A sand-coloured roof imbues the awning with a soft, warm light, and the combination of the light strip in the roof and the large windows of clear film make the Penta Thirty awning a bright and friendly place to spend time. The sturdy pole construction and the pentagonal shape mean stability for a long season at the campsite. Choose between the strong Zinox steel frame or the extra-strong Zinox MegaFrame for added stability. The combination of MegaFrame with extra winter securing means you can use your Penta Thirty all year round.

Seasonal camper – the best of both worlds

” More and more caravanners are choosing to become seasonal campers – or, in camping speak, permanent pitchers. Some are only seasonal campers for a few months, typically in peak season, while others remain permanently pitched at the same campsite for years.

The joy of camping multiplied

It is precisely this joy of life as a seasonal camper that is prompting a growing number of caravanners to try this unique way of camping. Most people decide to try out life as a seasonal camper simply to get more enjoyment from their caravan. When the caravan is waiting for you with the awning erected, it is simply a question of driving to the campsite, unzipping the awning door, carrying in your luggage, and you're good to go! You don't have to spend a minute of your precious time positioning the caravan and putting up the awning, furniture and equipment. All your time is spent enjoying life as a camper. And when both the caravan and the awning are ready for use, there is a lot of camping pleasure in store for you – even on a brief weekend trip.

Neighbours and tourists

At first, you might not think there is all that much difference between being a touring camper and a seasonal camper, but there is. Most campers are, by nature extremely sociable and outgoing and when you stay at the same campsite over a longer period of time you get to know the other seasonal campers really well. In many cases, lifelong friendships develop and you become part of a community, where help and advice are always within reach. There is always someone to chat to and it can take a while to go around saying hello to everyone on your arrival at the site. Your children or grandchildren benefit from you being a seasonal camper too; they don't have to explore the campsite and find playmates first. They know the campsite inside-out and have friends and playmates around every corner. This not only gives children a sense of security, but adults too. The fact that your children or grandchildren know how to amuse themselves at the campsite gives you more time to relax. So much so that sometimes, you might find yourself wishing that your children would spend just a little more time in the caravan, so that you could play or enjoy a little more quality time with them!

But being a seasonal camper does not mean that you only see the same faces day after day at the campsite. Throughout the season, touring campers (or tourists as they are also known) come to the campsite, so you get to meet new people and enjoy new experiences. Allowing you to get the best of both worlds.

No two days are alike

Most tourists are probably of the impression that life as a seasonal camper must be boring. That you're in the same place all the time, without experiencing anything new. Well, there's no getting away from the fact that you are in the same place day after day – that's the whole idea behind being a seasonal camper after all – but no two days are alike. There's something new happening all the time, new people arrive at the campsite every day and there is always something to experience and talk about. Most campsites also offer a wide range of activities throughout the season. Some are social events, where you meet up with other campers and socialise together, while others offer experiences and challenges.

Trust in your equipment

Having your caravan and awning standing in one place over a longer period of time is demanding on your equipment. The caravan will almost certainly be fine come rain or shine, but your awning must be designed to withstand whatever the weather throws at it.

The awning must be able to perform in many weather conditions, whilst maintaining a comfortable indoor climate. In theory, you could make an awning from thick tarpaulin. It would withstand most weather conditions, but the comfort inside the awning would suffer.

A good quality awning can withstand rain and wind, the seams are strong, as it is reinforced in exposed areas. It does not fade in sunlight and the indoor climate is top notch, minimising the nuisance of condensation and poor air quality. It must be correctly tensioned when you erect it. This not only gives a better appearance, but prevents pools of water from accumulating in the roof. The awning lasts longer and you don't have to listen to the canvas flapping in the wind. Above all, you must trust in your equipment. The caravan and awning are set up – even when you're not at the campsite. You therefore need to be sure that the awning in particular will be OK. In extreme weather conditions such as high winds or storms, you should inspect your awning, but you need to be able to trust that the awning can withstand wind and rain. All seasonal campers know this, some of them having learnt it the hard (and expensive) way! Others have listened to their fellow seasonal campers and benefitted from their experiences when choosing their equipment. There is a difference in which awning or awnings seasonal campers opt for. Most have a large awning for summer use and a smaller awning for the winter. The reason for choosing a smaller but much stronger awning in the winter is partly because it is cheaper to heat than a large awning, and partly because the winter securing means that it can withstand the weight of snow on the roof. In recent years, however, more and more people have been converting their large summer awning into a year-round awning by using stronger and thicker poles. Partitions are also used to divide the awning, making it more economical to heat. But we are also seeing an increase in the number of very strong year-round awnings, which can withstand many weather conditions.

A framework for wonderful experiences

When it comes to camping, many people probably see the caravan as the most important piece of equipment. For seasonal campers, the awning is every bit as important. The caravan is pretty much used as a place to sleep. In fine weather, you sit in front of the awning and when the weather is not quite as good, you sit inside the awning. In the evening, this is where you eat and relax with friends, children or grandchildren. It is a natural extension of your living room, where the camping experience really comes into its own. In short, the awning provides the framework for wonderful experiences.

Camping holidays are, and will always be, the best holiday choice

” Anyone familiar with the joys of camping life also knows how many different types of camping there are. It is precisely the possibilities camping offers and the ultimate sense of freedom it gives that make it the best holiday choice in the world.

Ultimate sense of freedom

The vast majority of people in the Western world today would be lost without their calendars and diaries, which manage all their appointments, ensure that they meet their commitments, that they are on time and do not forget anything. This is perhaps one of the main reasons why camping is the best kind of holiday there is. It is indisputably linked to the ultimate freedom to head off into the blue, follow your nose and decide your own pace and the direction you take. Once you have found your destination, this sense of freedom continues because you decide how long you want to stay there. If you like it there, you can stay for longer. Conversely, you can up sticks and move on if the urge takes you. Even taking a wrong turning can prove to be an experience you'll never forget. An impromptu detour can open your eyes to new and unplanned experiences – usually experiences to remember.

At one with nature

No matter what form your camping holiday takes, you will be close to nature – in a forest, by a beach or in the mountains. Whatever the case, nature is right on your doorstep. We humans have an inherent need to get out into the great outdoors. We crave fresh air and peace and quiet, which are in short supply in the busy Western world. Nature is everything that iPads, Facebook and Playstations are not and it's so very good for your body and soul. It recharges our batteries, enabling us to cope better with everyday life after the holidays, when nature is not as accessible. Who's to say you can't enjoy a fun and exciting camping holiday close to the city? Even if you are on a city break, you can still be at one with nature. Many campsites close to towns and cities also enjoy a scenic setting, giving you the best of both worlds. Why not take your bikes with you? It's great exercise. The best thing about nature is that it is often free to use, allowing you to spend your hard-earned cash on good food, fine wines and an extra ice cream for the kids instead. It's your holiday after all!

The changing seasons

Camping is not just for summer, although the vast majority of people connect this type of holiday with sun and warmth. Every season has its charm, and camping has many forms. When it's warm, you're outside. You eat and relax outside and sit out in the awning enjoying your holiday. When it's cold, you spend more time in the caravan, but that's nice too, as you pass the time playing games, drinking hot chocolate or reading a good book. These days, it is easy to acquire all the equipment you need for camping outside of the summer season. Many people believe that camping in winter is a chilly affair. And it is – outside – but not inside. Many also believe winter camping will ruin your caravan and awning, but that's not true when you opt for quality.

Camping holidays for all

Camping holidays often have a life or a cycle. Many people start out by renting or borrowing to try it out, and that's not a bad idea. That way, you find out what's important. Some people prefer to stay in the same place for a long time, while others like to move about. For some people, big is beautiful and they need lots of space, while others think that there is more freedom in driving a small caravan and a small, lightweight awning. Depending on which model you choose, however, there is no limit to where your holiday can take you. The whole of Europe and all its diversity are just waiting for you to visit and explore an exciting new region, province or neighbourhood. And one thing is for sure, you could carry on forever.

Unforgettable experiences

Holidays are about experiences and recharging your batteries. When you get away from familiar ground, your eyes are opened to new cultures. You see how other people live and learn about their traditions, religion and culture. It is hugely important to travel the world and meet other people because it creates an understanding of their way of life. Your way of doing things at home is generally what you consider "normal", but "normal" has many faces. Encountering other cultures promotes understanding and tolerance, and many people who stay on campsites in foreign countries make friends for life. You start out as random neighbours, but after a while, the door opens to new friendships, good laughs and having fun together. No other type of holiday does this to the same degree. On the campsite, everyone is equal and, quite literally, down to earth.

Thanks to its great strength and stability, the Universal 420 Coal porch can be put up in all weather conditions – all year round. Two support poles press the sewn-in foam pads securely against the side of the caravan, while click profiles hold the sides directly on the support pole for a perfect seal. Universal 420 has doors in both sides and large windows across the front, giving a good view. The strong Zinox steel frame ensures good stability. If Universal 420 Coal is to be used as a year-round awning, we recommend the fitting of winter securing and an inner roof (optional extras). The roof construction provides unobstructed opening of the caravan door and minimal build-up of snow.

The year-round camper

– permanent pitcher or migratory bird?

” Life as a year-round camper is a special kind of camping whereby you camp in all four seasons: Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter.

Year-round campers are often divided into two groups: permanent pitchers who stay at the same site and enjoy the seasons, and touring campers who drive from site to site throughout the year.

All campers enjoy the lovely summer of sun and fun, the shade under the sun canopy or perhaps a glass of wine in the awning when darkness falls. But that's where the similarity ends as for year-round campers, the camping season never draws to a close.

The permanent pitcher

When summer is over and many campers have left the campsites, the year-round camper puts up his awning and enjoys the peace and tranquillity and the coming of autumn with its beautiful scenery when the leaves change colour.

Some months later, the days become shorter and shorter, the frost arrives and the snow begins to fall.

Year-round campers have already mounted the inner roof and insulation in the sides and front, and laid an insulating floor in the awning, so a heater can create a cosy, warm "conservatory", where they can enjoy life while the birds feed on the bird table outside the awning. Perhaps the year-round camper will choose to spend Christmas in his caravan with lights on the Christmas tree just outside the awning, while the Christmas dinner roasts slowly in the oven. Family and friends are invited over for Christmas and enjoy an unforgettable experience in a caravan surrounded by nature. Nice and warm and cosy. An experience for life.

When the snow melts and the spring flowers begin to peep up through the ground, the front of the awning is zipped down so that the sun can heat the awning while the year-round camper enjoys the first rays of sunshine in the shelter of the awning.

The days are getting longer and longer, and camping life moves out of the awning. The summer campers return to the campsites, which are filling up as the buds burst and the fragrance of the flowers mingles with the fresh spring air. Furniture is brought outside and an extra sun canopy may be added to the outside of the awning. Now summer can be enjoyed to the full, catching up with old friends from last year and perhaps becoming acquainted with new friends.

The touring camper

The year-round touring camper has a myriad of options open to him. Summer might be spent at a number of wonderful campsites in northern Europe, where the air is fresh and the weather warm, visiting the sights and attractions and exploring the scenic and changing countryside. When summer draws to a close, the year-round touring camper follows the migratory birds on their journey south as the temperature drops in the chillier north. Other campers look forward to the early arrival of snow in the Nordic countries, so that they can pack their skiing equipment in the caravan, which is used as a mobile ski chalet, close to exciting downhill skiing with slopes of varying levels of difficulty to suit the individual, unless they're into cross-country skiing through the beautiful countryside of Norway and Sweden.

Special winter awnings are erected to ensure that the half metre of snow that falls during the night slips off the sloping roof of the awning. Other year-round campers choose the popular ski resorts of Austria, Italy and France, where there is nothing more lovely than ending the day in their own caravan, where they get to sleep in their own bed. The winter awning is the perfect conservatory and wind block when getting ski boots, winter clothes and skiing equipment ready.

While the snow is falling in the Alps, there are other year-round campers who have followed the migratory birds even further south, who are perhaps lying on the sandy beaches of Spain, Greece, Turkey or Portugal, not to mention the campers who choose to leave Europe and spend the coldest winter months in Africa, on the white sandy beaches of Morocco, sending e-mails and photos to friends up north to let them know that: "the thermometer says 28 degrees".

When spring arrives, many year-round campers start heading back north, just like the birds.

Often they don't drive straight home over the course of a few days, but take the opportunity to make the return journey north an experience in itself with detours to meet up with friends at the agreed campsites in Europe, often used by the "migratory birds". You could say that the return journey is made at a pace that allows the soul to keep up, in order to adjust to life back home just as spring announces its arrival.

Many year-round campers have not experienced winter for many years. While others feel that the four seasons are a wonderful way of experiencing the countries and the changing year.

Behind every year-round camper is a modern caravan, equipped according to their needs – an optimal way of life offering freedom, independence and proximity to nature. Not to mention the fact that wherever they are in the world, they are always in their own home, with their own kitchen, toilet, bedroom and living room.

” Make camping a breeze with the right accessories

Isabella has a wide range of functional accessories for your awning and caravan – accessories with lots of combination options and smart details that make it easier for you to enjoy life on the campsite. Choose from the numerous Isabella accessories, which help to increase the joy and experience of life in and around your awning and caravan.

1. NEW! With a Netfront you can choose to unzip the entire front panel to either side and replace it with the net front. You can also leave your front panel in place and with the use of the veranda pole, have the net in the upper half and the awning front in the lower half of the panel. This can be an advantage in hot climates where good ventilation is a must. Net front is reversible and can therefore be used on either the right or left side by simply clipping to the awning poles. Net front fits Commodore, Commodore Concept, Ambassador, Capri Coal and some older models (in sizes G14-G20).
2. NEW! Universal wheel arch covers for the caravan. To prevent draughts and cold from getting in via the wheel of your caravan, a good wheel arch cover is essential. Isabella now offers a universal wheel arch cover that fits all caravans. The wheel arch cover is screw-free, ensuring that you don't make holes in the caravan when fitting it. It is mounted with a rail on the side of the caravan with a strong double-sided tape. The wheel arch cover is available in widths of 75 cm or 150 cm and can be adjusted in height. If required, the rail can be shortened. 75 cm (481100075) 150 cm (481100150)
3. Net side for mounting on the side rafter pole means the entire side panel can be quickly unzipped and replaced with a complete mosquito net side. This is especially beneficial in a hot climate, where good ventilation is a must. The net side is available for awnings with 3 m or 2.5 m deep sides.
4. A door canopy offers shelter at the entrance and is available in colours to match Isabella awnings. (Fig. Commodore).
5. NEW! Penta Black door canopy fits your Penta awning. Made of PVC, it provides extra shelter at the entrance.

6. An inner roof minimises the formation of condensation and is recommended for caravanning in the off-peak seasons. Opening for access for light cord. Fitted using Termo-Fix fittings and available for Prisma, Penta, 3 m and 2.5 m deep full awnings, Universal and Winter awnings.

7. If you dream of camping in the winter, we recommend that you use the winter securing set, which protects the awning and frame in heavy snowfall. It consists of two additional rafter poles, FixOn II and three support poles. Available for all Universal and winter awnings.

8. Door canopy to caravan. With a door canopy on your caravan, you get a fast and stable solution for providing some shelter at the door into the caravan. This allows you to open the caravan door without the rain or snow getting in. The door canopy feeds into the awning rail and is secured at the bottom by attaching it to the base rail of the caravan with a beading bracket – simple and easy. Dimensions: 145 x 180 x 95 cm Weight: 3.8 kg -Material: Isacryl Frame: Zinox with T-Rex locking mechanism · Colour: Granite.

9. Aluminium roof gutter with spout. Fitted beneath the harlequin trim on most models; prevents dirt and water from running down the sides. Available in lengths of 300, 350 or 400 cm.

10. Coated polyester partition wall with window, available in two sizes to fit all Isabella awnings with a depth of either 2.5 m or 3 m. The partition wall is also available for Penta. When you wish to use the full width of the awning, the entire inner panel can be zipped off. Optional curtain hanging directly on the partition wall using curtain clips (optional extra).

11. Window canopy with sun filter keeps out the sun but provides an unrestricted view. The canopy is available in two widths: 190 cm or 215 cm in charcoal. The pole construction is very simple, and it fits almost all caravans. With Band-it™ softgrip, the window canopy is quick and easy to fit.

” Comfortable flooring for your awning

Isabella Carpet matches your Isabella awning perfectly and in a choice of quality to suit your camping needs. Our quality carpets are made in a smooth-woven combination of nylon threads, spun with PVC and finished in a heat press, so they can be fitted to any awning and even trimmed without fraying; they are lightweight and can be easily folded and cleaned.

ISAGRIP

IsaGrip is a clip used to hold carpets and underlay in place. IsaGrip is easy to fit without damaging the carpet. (900060290)

FLOORING FOR AWNINGS

” Flooring for comfort layer upon layer

Start by laying Ground Cover over an area bigger than the awning to protect the mudflaps and awning materials. Then lay Isabella Floor over the entire awning area, remember the edging strips for a neat finish especially in doorways. A Comfort Carpet keeps the heat in and is soft and comfortable to walk on. Finally, lay an Isabella Carpet for a beautiful finish that's easy to keep clean.

ISABELLA FLOOR

If you spend a lot of time in your awning, you want good insulation, and a floor that is smooth and level. Isabella Floor offers a full range of advantages. It is easy to install without the use of tools, the 50 x 50 cm tiles simply snap together like building blocks, no other parts are needed. It is easy to store and exceptionally durable.

1. With the option to purchase different types of edges for Isabella Floor, you can create a beautiful finish.
2. Isabella Floor uses a unique interlocking system.

FLOORING FOR AWNINGS

1. ISABELLA GROUND COVER

Ground Cover is the perfect underlay – a thin but strong sheet that lies on the ground, it protects the awning canvas from soil and mud, and because the mudflaps are not in contact with the ground they are easier to clean.

Supplied on rolls of 2 x 18 m (36 m<sup>2</sup>). Ground Cover is fully breathable and suitable for touring sites.

2. ISABELLA COMFORT CARPET

Comfort Carpet is a soft, insulating comfort underlay which is placed between the plastic barrier or wooden floor and the awning floor covering to keep cold and damp at bay. It also provides a soft floor area to sit and walk on.

Supplied on rolls of 1,5 x 15 m (22,5 m<sup>2</sup>).

3. ISABELLA GROUND SHEET

The Isabella Ground Sheet is available in different sizes to fit the awnings. Put it under the awning carpet to avoid moisture from the soil. Isabella Ground Sheet has plastic reinforcements in the corners with ring for pegging and reinforced edges, so it will last for years.

Colour: Anthracite

Material: PU 160 g/m<sup>2</sup>

Depth: 270, 320 or 370 cm

Lengths: 500, 600, 700 or 800 cm.

” Effective cleaning of the awning and camping equipment

Regular maintenance of your awning and your other camping equipment is necessary and will extend the life of your products. This prevents dirt and debris from becoming so deeply ingrained in the material that they cannot be removed. When you clean your awning, it is important to use cleaning products intended for use on awning fabric. Otherwise, there is a risk that the surface of the awning can become damaged or the fabric discoloured. The four products in the IsaClean range are specially designed to be used on your awning and other Isabella camping equipment – and thus provide a good, clean result, whilst protecting the materials.

IsaClean All-Year

A cleaning product for regular cleaning of the awning. (9000060431)

IsaClean Season

A cleaning product for use at the end of the season when your awning needs a good clean before being packed away for the winter. (9000060432)

IsaClean Anti-Mould

A cleaning product used to combat mould or mildew. (9000060433)

IsaClean Window

For cleaning the awning windows. To be used with the microfibre cloth included. (9000060434)

After using IsaClean, we recommend re-proofing your awning to ensure a water-repellent surface. We recommend Isabella's AquaTex for this.

In addition to giving your awning a water-repellent surface, AquaTex can also be used to lubricate the zips and awning rails (this may make it easier to mount the awning on the caravan). The awning poles can also be kept nice and clean if they are regularly lubricated with AquaTex. (900060062)

” Small tips to prolong the life of your awning and provide greater comfort

To extend the life of your awning, it is important to ensure that the awning is sitting good and tight on the frame. It's also a good idea to use plenty of large pegs. This ensures that your awning will not come away from the ground, and it also reduces wear and tear to the awning.

The correct underlay with moisture membrane and a water-resistant awning carpet give the best indoor climate with minimal condensation, and an inner roof provides indoor comfort with less temperature variation. Ground Cover protects the grass edges and minimises cleaning. Comfort Carpet makes the floor comfortable to walk on and insulates, so your feet don't get cold in the awning.

” If things go wrong

GETTING THE CORRECT SIZE AWNING

To determine the "A-size": Park the caravan on level ground. The "A-size" is the length from ground level, through the awning channel and back down to the ground. This can be done easily with a piece of string. We have a database of caravan sizes from 1970 onwards on our website, www.isabella.net. For Porch/Part awnings the caravan channel height determines the fit. All Isabella full awnings can also be used as part awnings. Using a foam pad, support pole and two click profiles. Measure your caravan "Full awning as large/small Porch" as shown and match to the nearest Isabella "A" size. This solution works for new and older models the parts are all supplied as optional extras.

FRAME TYPES

CARBON-X™ FRAME

a carbon-fibre reinforced fibreglass frame, is suitable for both permanent and touring caravanning. Carbon Fibres are combined with glass fibres in varying amounts, according to pole diameters, to offer maximum strength. The frame is light and fully corrosion resistant. All CarbonX frames are supplied with the IsaFix locking mechanism. With IsaFix in place, keeping the frame in position is easy. With one press of the hand grip, a discreet "click" tells you IsaFix is locked in position.

ISAFIX™ LOCKING CLAMP

included on all CarbonX frames or update your own fibreglass frame! IsaFix can be fitted easily to any Isabella frame, replacing telescopic couplings and wing nuts for quick and efficient assembly of the awning frame.

ZINOX™ STEEL FRAME

is hot galvanised both inside and out to extend its life and to meet all load bearing requirements. The steel frame is made of ISO-certified high-strength steel. The strength of the Zinox steel frame makes it particularly suitable for pitching your caravan permanently – and it is included with all Universal and winter porch awnings, because caravanning in the off-peak seasons demands great structural stability due to weather conditions such as strong winds and snow.

T-REX™ LOCKING MECHANISM

for the Zinox steel frame locks the poles in place and keeps them tensioned in all weather conditions with one press of the hand grip and a discreet "click".

ZINOX MEGAFRAME

The Zinox MegaFrame is a durable tubular steel frame (material thickness: 32 mm/1.2 mm) with welded corners and double screw lock on the poles. MegaFrame is designed for year-round use with a full awning which can remain standing all year, and can withstand powerful storms, snowfall and torrential rain. The Zinox MegaFrame is supplied with two extra rafter poles, as well as one Hercules 32.5 mm.
